ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce
HON. H. P. THOMPSON,
Democratic candidate for State Senator of Clark county, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Congress,
F. A. HOPKINS,
of Floyd County.

ONLY THE BEST.

The ADVOCATE will vote as it talks. It will contend for sober, discreet men to represent the Democracy in positions of preference and will see that only such Democrats will be nominated. When we go out to find sober, discreet, capable men to hold offices who will be a servant of the people and not a party, we will not look around in Republican quarters for them. Such men are in the Democratic party and such must be our nominees.

GET TOGETHER.

One of the growing men of the United States with Democrats is the Hon. W. R. Hearst, of New York, candidate for the Democratic nomination for President. He talks this way: "Democrats must get together and be sure to not only vote for the St. Louis nominees but get out and work for them." Keep your eye on Hearst. If he lives the people will some day make him President. It may not be now, but it will be some day.

WHO?

Who will be the Democratic nominee for the next Legislature from Menefee and Montgomery counties? Who? An anti-saloon man, a sound Democrat. None other need apply. The good people, the young people who must assume responsibilities will look after this matter, and a fix-up is coming with men who do not fear the saloon power. Whiskey must be used as medicine and nothing else; it is too dangerous.

LET THEM COME.

There is going to be a large number of candidates this year, and there is going to be all kinds of offering but if we are not mightily fooled the people will pick the best. There will be many offering but only a few and that a select few will be chosen.

JUDGE PARKER.

All indications point to the nomination of Judge Parker at St. Louis for Democratic President.

Returned After an Absence of Fifty-One Years.

Fifty-one years ago P. M. Greenwade was a boy ten years of age, and at that time, ambitious and energetic, he left Kentucky and went to Texas, where he has applied his energy and talents to make a good living. He won, for in answer to a question he said: "I don't know just how much land I own, but somewhere between eight and ten thousand acres." At this juncture W. T. Fitzpatrick informed us this was the cousin he had told about visiting who had so many cattle he did not pretend to count them. It was "cattle on a thousand hills."

This is Mr. Greenwade's first return to Kentucky. Saw nothing familiar. He has been married twice and raised two sets of children, seven in all. While talking two beautiful young ladies approached the residence of Allen McCormick, where Mr. Greenwade, children and a few Kentucky cousins were dining, and we were introduced to Miss Ethel and Julia Greenwade, his youngest girls. They will be in Kentucky a few days and from here they go to the World's Fair at St. Louis and thence will return to their home "May the Lord continue to prosper these good people, and may their return to Kentucky be more frequent."

FACTS and OBSERVATIONS

The writer left this city on Tuesday morning, June 28, to attend the Tenth National Prohibition Convention which met at Indianapolis on Wednesday and Thursday. This was the first experience in attending a national political convention. Ed route from Cincinnati over the Big Four railroad we met some of the Kentucky delegation, and Rev. Clas. Clay, Methodist, of Indian Territory, who was returning from a visit to Kentucky. He formerly preached at Clay City and has many acquaintances here. He made inquiry about David Howell, Jr., D. Jones and wife etc.

Well, did you ever see the like, trains, and people and ringing of bells, in the Union Depot at Indianapolis. We dropped in with the Ohio delegation headed by a brass band, keeping in the middle of the road en route to the Denison Hotel which was also headquarters for the Kentucky delegates, men and women were in that procession. The first thing for the quibb was in the evening, the Oratorical Contest of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association. There were six contestants. One from Illinois, California, Iowa, Oregon and two from Michigan. These were the pick from 800 who had spoken in the State contests. Five were young men, Miss Mamie White she sixth was from college at Wheaton, Ill. The first prize of $100 was awarded to Walter Miles, of Oregon, whose subject was: Sacrifice the Victory Spirit. The second prize $50 went to Miss White, subject: The Right to Prohibit Wrong.

PLACE OF MEETING.

The convention was held at Tomlinson Hall, seating capacity 2,700, including balconies. Admission was by ticket. The building, up to last meeting, was crowded. The writer was seated on the stage with representatives of the press.

DELEGATES PRESENT.

There were present 897 delegates and 121 alternates, total 1,018. Pennsylvania had the largest delegation, 144, New York 112, Kentucky 18. These delegates were from 39 states and territories.

The convention was called to order on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock by Oliver W. Stewart, of Chicago, National Chairman. Morning session was devoted to his speech, address of welcome and temporary organization. In afternoon committees reported and permanent organization was effected. At 4 p. m. the convention (as many as desired) adjourned to the Lyric Hotel. We had accepted an invitation from Jno. F. Wood to go driving. After the afternoon session we attended a mass meeting held at entrance of Capitol building. This was to boom Gen. Nelson A. Miles for the Presidency. We heard speeches by Robert Patton, Prohibition candidate for Governor of Illinois, by James Hector, colored, of Pennsylvania, (the only negro delegate to the convention) and by Jno. G. Woolley, of Chicago, last Presidential candidate. We left at 5:55 while he was speaking to keep engagement with Mr. Wood at 6 o'clock. While we were driving in a beautiful section of the city he said: "I will show you where W. S. Taylor lives." There he was seated on his veranda with two ladies. We kept sweet and kept moving. The mass meeting was held in the evening. Inspiring speeches were made.

THE CHIEF BUSINESS OF THIS SESSION WAS RAISING A CAMPAIGN FUND.

The chief business at this session was raising a campaign fund. There was in the treasury from last year a balance of more than $11,000. Cash and pledges at this meeting were more than $10,000 thus giving above $27,000 to begin the campaign. The first offering was $1,000 by a Californian, then 2 of $500 several of $300 etc., ending with a basket collection.

WHO IS TO BE THE NOMINEE?

This is the question which received much attention. The popular feeling was for Gen. Nelson A. Miles, and the outlook was favorable for the old soldier. Miles' buttons, fans, badge, pictures were every where. Opponents of Gen. Miles centered on Oliver Stewart National chairman as the most available man. Some feared that Miles would not accept the nomination if offered him, some wished to know certainly, some thought that the nomination should not go to a novice in the Prohibition struggle. His leader Jno. G. Woolley was sure he would not reject an offer to him and said that Gen. Miles would not reject him if he (Miles) intended to decline. The hour for adjournment came with sentiment thus divided, leaving the two most essential features of convention untouched: Adoption of platform and nominations.

AFTERNOON.

After the adjournment the following telegram from Gen. Miles to Mr. Woolley changed nearly everything: "Appreciating the good will of yourself and friends, I must earnestly request that my name be not used in the convention, and that my later of June 20 be considered as final." NELSON A. MILES.

Gen. Miles voted for the Prohibition electors in November 1900, and since May 1, 1900 he has been a total abstainer and for many years a temperate man.

PLATFORM.

The platform will be given next week. Following this adoption there was enthusiasm, cheering, waving of banners, music. Among the songs which rang from floor to balcony were: "My Country tis of thee," "Praise God," "Blest be the Tie that Binds," etc. When the rejoicing has subsided, a delegate moved that a special prayer for God's guidance in selection of President and Vice President be offered. Reverently the assembly bowed. It became known that Gen. Miles was not a candidate, his opposition was also dropped and the understanding was there would be only one nomination for President: Silas C. Swallow.

THE POTENTIAL NOMINEE.

Silas C. Swallow is a resident of Harrisburg, Penn. Four years ago he opposed Jan. G. Woolley for the nomination on the Prohibition ticket. He is a Methodist preacher, and editor of the Pennsylvania Methodist, a man of great ability and much loved. His nomination was seconded by the representatives from 20 States. There was great enthusiasm.

VICE PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEE.

Four names were presented for this office: Geo. W. Carroll, of Texas, I. H. Amos, of Ore. on, A. U. Coats, of Iowa, Col. Benjamin F. Parker, of Wisconsin.

Parker's name was withdrawn and the vote of his State was designated for Carroll. Mr. Coats then arose and withdrew. The vote was then taken, resulting in the choice of Carroll by the vote: Carroll 626, Amos 132.

Mr. Carroll was Prohibition candidate for Governor of Texas two years ago. At present is an alderman of Beaumont, Texas. His abstinence on the convention was explained by saying that he is acting as Mayo (owing to the absence from Beaumont of that official) and that he is engaged in a fight against the gamblers there. He is a millionaire oil operator, a philanthropist and an excellent man. Last year he gave $75,000 to one college. He is a member of the Baptist Church. Many speeches were made seconding nomination, and there was great demonstration.

EVENING.

A mass meeting closed a very successful convention, with great encouragement for the coming campaign.

In answer to a telegram Clem Madden and Ernest Myhrle, of Noblesville, Ind., both Mt. Sterling men and former employees in the Advocate office, came to Indianapolis on Thursday afternoon accompanied by Mrs. Madden and a young lady, Miss Florence Bechtel. In the evening we attended the mass meeting together until after 9 o'clock, when they left to catch the electric car for 2 miles away.

We much enjoyed their visit, and are pleased to report to their Kentucky friends that they are doing.

We called at the Wood Weaver Printing Co's office to see the Wood brothers, Labe and John F. The latter is the president and manager of the company, and owns most of the stock. Did not learn whether Labe has any stock. The employees number about 30, and the company does an immense business, and is evidently successful.

STEIN-BLOCH SMART CLOTHES

$15.00 SUITS.
You can tell them; others say they can tell our clothes. There is that distinct style, that good fit of shoulders and neck in our suits that is found in no others. It's not a secret with us—it's knowing how. Elegant Serges, fancy hard-faced Worsteds, Scotch and Irish Home-Spuns, worked up into some fetching double and single-breasted styles ready for you now. Don't buy hand-me-downs or poorly made-to-order clothes that will hang on you like a sack—come here and you'll look different. The price is no greater. $15.00 buys the best $15.00 suit on earth here.

J. & M. SHOES.

Eclipse and W. L. Douglas Shoes in the Shiny Leathers, Patent Calf, Patent Cora and Patent Vici, high or low shoes, $3 to $5; greatest and most complete shoe making in the world. They hold their shape, they fit; most meat in our shoes than other shoes. Walk in them. Not a shoe store better and lower price.

SMART CLOTHES for Limited Purses!

Our way of knowing how gives the discriminating buyer of to-day the best for his money in every respect. There is a hundred and one little things that go into a suit to make it smart looking that you never dream of. Getting them there means knowing how. Hundreds of young fellows and old ones, too, have caught on to this. They are coming here and leaving the fitting and selecting of patterns to us. We never lose a customer of this kind. The shopper sooner or later learns of us and our way and usually ends where he should have begun. Don't waste time, energy and money with apprentices in the business. Come and buy the clothing that bears the ear marks of the high-class custom tailors at one half the price from WALSH BROS.

Big Sale.

Read carefully the page advertisement of S. M. Newmeyer, proprietor of the Louisville Store. He has secured the services of an expert who makes things lively for the few days the sale is on. Mr. L. C. Whitney is the same gentleman who put Mr. Watson's sale on at Lexington and who had such unprecedented success that it was repeated a few days with like satisfaction, giving to the cash drawer more than $7,500 in nine days sales. In order that the people may be induced to buy the cuts on all prices are very deep. In this sale at the Louisville Store the cuts are so heavy that it is expected almost everything will change hands in the limited time.

Fire.

E. W. Stockton & Co's dye and cleaning house caught on fire Friday evening from the stove, destroying building and contents. Loss total, five hundred dollars with one hundred and fifty dollars insurance in Roger's Agency.

Notice.

I hereby give notice that the season for Bourbon Chief was closed July 1st and he will not be permitted to do additional service.

We heard Cyclone Davis, of Texas, Hector, the Black Prince of Pennsylvania, is no slouch. When we go to a convention (religious or political) we go to the convention, so usually we what is to be seen and hear what is to be heard. Outside pleasures and observations are secondary matters. We called twice at the National headquarters of the C. W. B. M. Indianapolis is a beautiful city.

A call was made for the preacher delegates to rise. There appeared to be at least 50. Nearly as many old soldiers stood. About sixty women delegates were present. We attended every session for three nights and two days, and do not remember to have seen a man or men smoking in the hall.

We had heard a remark about delegates at Prohibition conventions not spitting tobacco on the floor. We decided to look. After adjournment of last afternoon session we walked from end to end of each of the three aisles. We saw tobacco spit in only one place.

En route to Indianapolis we said to the conductor: I see that in this State you do not have separate coaches for colored people (we had seen two negro women and a man in the ladies' coach). He made a remark about whiskey in Kentucky. We replied that you surely don't expect Kentuckians, en route to a Prohibition convention to have whiskey. He smiled, kept sweet and kept moving.

Before we left home J. D. Smith, of Paducah, State Chairman, had invited us to share the room known as Kentucky Headquarters.

We were not a delegate, so took no part in conferences or public discussions.

We are free to express the opinion that if more Republicans and Democrats would attend the Prohibition conventions, hear their plea for Christian citizenship, the recognition of God, their plain yet persuasive statement of facts, their impassioned oratory in behalf of civic righteousness, and in assailing of Governmental partnership in the Nation's curse, they would have deeper insight into personal responsibility, fuller, loftier conceptions of our Nation's privileges and less fear and dread concerning the safety and perpetuity of the republic. We are glad that we went to Indianapolis. Our time and money have been well spent.

Mrs. Francis Herdridge of Fremont, Neb., is Secretary, Treasurer and General Manager of the party in that State. She said if the party gets 1,000,000 votes this fall we will have the balance of power, and I think we will get them. In the last Mayoralty race in Indianapolis the Prohibition vote was 3,500. The Prohibition vote in Chicago was 7,104 and growing rapidly.

During the last four years $175,000 was spent for Prohibition work in the U. S.

Homer Castle, of Pittsburg, was temporary chairman; A. G. Wolfenbarger, of Lincoln, Neb., was permanent chairman. The Prohibition vote in 1900 was 209,000, an increase of nearly 80,000 above 1896.

Change of Firm.

N. H. Trimble came from Hazel Green and began business in the grocery trade in this city April, 1874, with the firm Chiles, Bean & Trimble. On January 1, 1904, he began alone a wholesale and retail business in present stand cor. Main and Maysville Sts. This continued until July 1, '82, when the firm became Trimble Bros.; he admitting his brother, Robert M. Since October 1, '89, their trade has been exclusively wholesale and they have had a large trade. On last Friday, July 1, 1904, this firm changed and Trimble Grocery Co., was incorporated with a capital stock of $40,000. Its officers are: N. H. Trimble, President; Robt. M. Trimble, Vice President; J. G. Trimble, Jr., Secretary; T. D. Jones, Treasurer. In addition to above J. G. Trimble, father of the Trimble Bros., is also a stockholder. Mr. Jones resigned the Assistant Cashiership of the Mt. Sterling National Bank to accept this. We wish them much success.

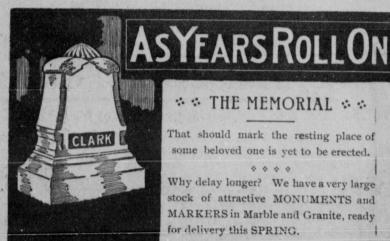

No admission will be charged at the Fredrick lecture tomorrow evening. Voluntary collections will be acceptable. Whatever is received above expenses will be cheerfully given to the W. C. T. U. to apply to the fountain.

CHOKING CATARRH CURED

Your Money Back if Hymel Does Not Cure You.

"Use Hymel and be cured of catarrh," is what all who have tried it for that disease say to their friends.

It is the easiest thing in the world to stop catarrh at its beginning if you use Hymel. Just breathe the health-giving, balsamic air for a few minutes and your catarrh will be cured.

In this city and neighboring towns, there are hundreds who can testify to the remarkable powers of Hymel to cure catarrh. Many of the staunchest friends of this remedy today began its use with little hope that they would be cured, but as W. S. Lloyd offered to refund the money if it did not cure, they decided to try it on that plan, and were soon restored to health. [6-20]

BUILDINGS NEVER FINISHED.

Curious History of Some Enterprises Began Long Ago in England.

A fine church in the village of Hassall, near Sandbach, has been the sport of all the winds that blow since about 1837, says Stray Stories.

Begun in 1836, and designed to seat some 500 people, it grew steadily till shortly after the accession of Queen Victoria in the following year.

The day after that historical event the founder—a private gentleman—was seized with a fatal illness, and consequently his intentions were unfulfilled, notwithstanding that the structure was so far advanced that they could have been carried out at small expense. Since then the building has remained unfinished.

A similar history is attached to an uncompleted church in Somerset. According to local report, too, a church at Stourport, in Worcestershire, is never to be finished, although it has been in course of construction for a very long period.

Near a railway in a certain Lancashire town, for instance, there is a row of half-built cottages. This conglomeration of bricks and mortar was thrown together many years ago by an enterprising speculator, who thought that the railway would be carried across the land which it occupies, and that he would therefore be able to sell at an excellent profit.

But his anticipations were not realized, so he left the embryo cottages to their fate. On his death his estate passed into the hands of a creditor, and for this and other reasons it is extremely improbable that the property will ever be finished.

Numbers of structures now in a more or less ruinous condition are so because the builders laid their plans too hastily. A curious instance is a part of a lighthouse on the summit of St. Catherine's hill, in the Isle of Wight.

When this edifice was well advanced the tardy discovery was made that, owing to the height to which it would reach, fog or clouds would obscure the beacon at the top. The structure was consequently abandoned.

Equally curious is the history of a picturesque ruin on Mow cop, near Congleton. A certain gentleman determined to build a castle on this eminence.

When it was nearly completed the owner of the adjoining estate came forward and claimed that the hill top was in his domain. So, in fact, it proved, and as a result the proposed castle remains unfinished to this day.

There are, moreover, some buildings which are designedly incomplete. Near Southport stands a residence which, though it seems to be finished, always has men working on it—painters, paperhangers, etc.

The reason it is continually in the hands of such artisans is that when it is completed it must be surrendered; so the occupier takes care that it cannot be pronounced finished. In fact, it will never be completed.

Cathedrals will never be really finished. Large staffs of masons, etc., are permanently engaged on them, as men are always painting the North bridge and others are repairing the Liverpool landing stage.

IGNORANT

Or Willfully Misrepresenting The Truth.

[Lexington Herald.]

Our Republican friends are in the habit of making confident statements of alleged historical facts; sometimes in criticism and censure of the Democrats, sometimes in commendation of their own conduct.

Among other such confident and inaccurate statements in the platform adopted by the recent Republican convention in obedience to the order of the President are two:

"That a Democratic tariff has always been followed by business adversity, a Republican tariff by business prosperity." By the fatuous and unfortunate division of the Democratic party at Charleston in 1860 Mr. Lincoln was elected President and was inaugurated March 1861—forty-three years ago. Since that day the Democratic party have had possession of the Presidency and both Houses of Congress for only two years and, therefore, could not enact a tariff law during that long period except during that short interval of two years. Those two years were from March 4th, 1861, to March 4th, 1863.

So it is certain that every tariff act passed from March, 1861, to March, 1863, was a Republican act. Was there a continuous, unbroken period of business prosperity from 1861 to 1863? Were there no periods of depression? No bankruptcies? The New York Times answers that question as follows:

The Republican party came into power in 1861; this clearly fixes the period in which comparison between the Republican and Democratic tariffs and their consequences must be made. Since that date there have been half a dozen times of great depression in business which were accompanied by enough excitement of the public mind to be called panics. The first occurred in the spring of 1861 and was due wholly to the impending contest with secession. The second occurred in 1867, when the number of failures ran up to 2,730 and the liabilities of failed concerns to $66,666,000. In 1873 there was a third depression, which has become memorable in our history when the failures reached 5,183 and the liabilities the then unprecedented amount of $28,499,900. Five years later there was a fourth interval of stagnation and disturbance, when the number of failures nearly doubled and the liabilities again increased, this time to $24,353,130. In 1884 the fifth depression caused the record of failures to reach almost the same figures. Finally in 1893 we had the appalling total of failures at 15,351 and the total liabilities at $36,779,889.

Here are five periods of panic of which the record is entirely complete and all but the earliest of which are within the memory of a very large number of experienced business men. Every one of them occurred under a Republican tariff. Not one of them followed a Democratic tariff, for the conclusive reason that no Democratic tariff was in existence from the first to the last. If they were caused by tariffs at all—and the tariff had much to do with them indirectly—it must be that they were caused by Republican tariffs.

Esop's wolf was not more manifold or more silly than the writer of the "Republican platform."

The Democrats organized the 53rd Congress at the extra session in August, 1893. Under the operation of the Sherman act the silver question had become acute, and it was clear that unless some unusual measures were adopted the run on the treasury would be disastrous. Mr. Cleveland called Congress in extra session and at the purchase clause of the Sherman act was repealed, and the Wilson bill adopted, and at that session no tariff legislation was enacted. The financial depression had commenced in 1892, before the Presidential election, and whoever or whatever was responsible for it was not a subsequent tariff bill. This period of depression certainly did not "follow" a Democratic tariff bill. Near the expiration of the second session of that Congress and late in 1893 the so-called Wilson-Gorman bill was passed. It was enacted by a Democratic Congress; it was an improvement on the McKinley bill, but it was in no other sense a Democratic bill; it was in fact the highest protective bill ever theretofore passed except the McKinley bill.

It was a Senate bill concocted by the protection Democrats of the Senate, and forced through that body. It was the Gorman-Butler-Price-Pugh, and other protection Democrats' bill. When the House refused to concur in the Senate bill, falsely called Senate amendments, the Senate refused to concede anything, and openly announced that the House had to take that bill without crossing a "T" or dotting an "I," or nothing. Indeed, it was an open secret that the anti-Cleveland Senatorial cabal desired the bill to be defeated.

Finally, under the leadership of Mr. Wilson and with great reluctance on his part, the House receded from its non-concurrence, and the bill was sent to the President for his approval. He did not veto it, but he refused to approve it and it became a law without his approval. His famous message explaining his reasons for refusing to veto it and yet refusing to approve it is one of the historic Presidential messages. It is true that this tariff law was passed by Democratic votes and in that sense was a Democratic tariff; but it was in principle and schedules a Republican tariff, and the only justification any Democrat ever had or urged for voting for it was that it was a less-merciful, more impartial and fairer law than the McKinley bill. Certain of its schedules were reasonably judicious and approximately fair, others were forced by the combined votes of Republican and protection Democratic Senators. It is just to add that it was a fairer, juster, more honest tariff than the present Dingley tariff act.

We know that Secretary Shaw made similar assertions in his speech in our opera house; but then, as usual, when such assertions are made they were when no answer is to be made and no misstatement corrected.

If the convention at St. Louis is equal to its duty and its opportunity, while it will accept the tariff challenge and make the peace of the present burdensome tariff law, yet it will present other and perhaps more absorbing and interesting issues by accepting the Republican challenge as to the purity of the sugar, the peace of the nation from sectional contests and the rights of the separate States to protect, guard and perpetuate their civilization.

IMPROVED TRAIN SERVICE.

Offered by the Henderson Route between Louisville and St. Louis.

Commencing Sunday, June 26th, Kentucky's popular line, the Henderson Route, will inaugurate a safe and Fast Day service between Louisville and St. Louis in each direction, and will improve the time and equipment generally of all trains between these points.

Three daily trains will be operated in each direction on the following safe schedules between Louisville and St. Louis:

Leave Louisville 8:30 a. m., 9:00 p. m., and 7:00 a. m. Arrive at St. Louis 6:16 p. m., 7:20 a. m. and 6:16 p. m.

The equipment is brand new (just from the shops), of the most modern vestibule pattern and is as fine as on any train operating in or out of Kentucky.

The 8:30 a. m. train, through without change of cars, will be composed of Pullman Observation Parlor Cars, Free Reclining Chair Cars, Dining Cars and high back seat passenger coaches.

The 9:00 p. m. train, through without change of cars, will consist of Pullman Sleeping Cars, Free Reclining Chair Cars, and high back seat passenger coaches.

The 7:00 a. m. train will have Parlor Cars, Dining Cars and high back seat passenger coaches.

The Dining Cars on Day trains will serve meals a la carte—you pay only for what you get.

All trains will leave from and arrive in the Seventh Street Union Depot, Louisville, arriving at and departing from the magnificent new Union Station, St. Louis.

In purchasing your tickets to St. Louis or to points west, ask the agent for tickets via Louisville and Henderson Route. He will have them in stock and will be glad to ticket you that way.

You will be satisfied in every respect with the accommodation and safe train service that is offered by this line, which has been termed the Official Route for Kentuckians. 50-1t

The franchise value of the C. & O. Railway has been placed at $2,310,900, by the State Board of Valuation and Assessment. The road will pay taxes to the amount of $11,554.50.

Only Re-Echoes the Sentiments of Thousands in Our Republic.

"The Mt. Sterling reader is asked to thoroughly investigate the following. This can readily be done, for the gentleman whose statement is published below will only be too pleased to answer any communications mailed to him if the writer really suffers from the annoying consequence which always attend inactive or weakened kidneys."

A. Gum, Jr., Cleveland, Ky., says: "I was laid up with kidney trouble for a number of days and it was only with the greatest difficulty that I could move in any manner. When I was able to be up I found it hard to bend over on account of the great pain that this action caused. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box and after taking them a short time was greatly surprised to find that they benefited me. I continued taking them and soon I was up and about as well as ever was. I can't praise Doan's Kidney Pills highly enough and I am only too pleased to recommend them."

CONNECTICUT BLUE-LAWS.

Early Regulations of New Haven Colony Were Very Strict.

In New Haven the "blue laws" were famous for their severity, says the New York Tribune. No man could vote in the town elections unless he was a member of some church. No Quaker or dissentor was even allowed to step within the borders of the town. To pick an ear of corn growing in another's garden was deemed theft, as well as any vegetable or fruit belonging to another, penalty for which was fine and corporal punishment. A young man could not "court a maid in person or by letter without first obtaining the consent of her parents." For the first offense under this law the penalty was £5, £10 for the second offense, and for further repetitions imprisonment at the pleasure of the court. This was an old Massachusetts law, but the New Haven code was much more specific than that of Boston. Trifling with a young woman's affections was strictly forbidden, "whether by speech, writing, message, gifts or in any other way." There were a large number of cases brought to the courts under this law, which was one of the reasons for its later removal. No one was permitted in New Haven in 1650 to cross a river except by the aid of an authorized ferryman. If a young swell of the town wished to row his women friends across the river he was not allowed to do so by the law. A debtor in prison, if he swore that he had no estate, was sold to pay the debt. Whoever brought "cards and dice into the dominion" had to pay a fine of £5 (English money). Whoever wore clothes trimmed with silver, gold or bone lace at above two shillings' cost the yard was "presented to the grand jurors and fined." A sweeping regulation was to the effect that no one should keep Christmas or saints' days, dance or play cards. Married people had to live together or be imprisoned, divorces being allowed only in remarkable cases. In 1812 the card-playing regulation was still in force, as in that year seven young men in New Haven were arrested for the crime, punished and made to pay fines and costs amounting to nearly $5 apiece. The ministers of the church could not perform marriage ceremonies, that office going to the legal fraternity. If a man struck his wife he was fined, but if a woman struck her husband she might be whipped by town court order. Every man in the colony had to have his haircut round like a poll by a pumpkin set on his head or a bowl.

CURIOUS LUGGAGE.

Size of Baggage That Identifies Some Prominent Travelers.

Nearly every one who travels much has a piece of baggage peculiar to himself. When it is an ordinary citizen this is allowable, and no annoyance follows but in the case of a prominent man everyone is consumed with curiosity to know what is in the peculiar piece of baggage.

Some time ago, when on duty at the station, says an exchange, I noticed a plain, square deal box, about a foot in length and six or seven inches in depth, among the luggage of the prince and princess of Wales at Paddington. The box was fastened by a black hoop and padlocked, and inquiries revealed the fact that the box is nearly always noticed among the portmanteaus and other impediments of the prince of Wales when his royal highness travels. The box is stamped on the cover with a black royal crest, and what it contains has frequently aroused from time to time a certain amount of prying curiosity among railway officials.

Most railway porters are familiar with a certain very narrow, yellow-looking box, about four feet in length, that generally accompanies Mr. Balfour on his journey. Various conjectures have been made as to what the box might contain. Some have regarded the guess that it covers the premier's golf sticks, and others have suggested that the box is obviously one which contains many a secret in immediate connection with the welfare of the great empire. Mr. Balfour always keeps a close eye on it.

Mr. Chamberlain's luggage has one distinctive feature. The colonial minister does not appear to possess a single large or cumbersome piece of baggage. The luggage that usually accompanies him consists of a few small brown leather portmanteaus and a single hatbox, all branded in black letters as belonging to Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain.

Outside its characteristically compact and tidy appearance, Mr. Chamberlain's luggage never excites any remark, except the small handbag which he always carries.

Some years ago the duke of Devonshire was noticed from time to time to be frequently accompanied on his journeys by a round black tin case, about two feet in length, fastened at one end by a padlock.

The contents of this mysterious looking case, which for some time excited a great deal of curiosity among different railway officials, were one day exposed to view, and all mystery in connection with the case ceased. The top by some means fell off one day whilst the case was being placed in the train, and exposed to the gaze a number of ordnance survey maps of the duke's.

LIVER TROUBLES

"Find Thedford's Black-Draught a good medicine for it or disease. It cured my on after he had spent $100 with doctors. It is all the medicine I take."—J. H. CANNON, MARTIN, Parkersburg, W. Va.

If your liver does not act regularly go to your druggist and secure a package of Thedford's Black-Draught and take a dose tonight. This great family medicine frees the constipated bowels, stirs up the torpid liver and causes a healthy secretion of bile.

Thedford's Black-Draught will cleanse the bowels of impurities and strengthen the kidneys. A torpid liver invites colds, biliousness, chills and fever and all manner of sickness and contagion. Weak kidneys result in Bright's disease which claims as many victims as consumption. A 25-cent package of Thedford's Black-Draught should always be kept in the home.

"I used Thedford's Black-Draught for liver and kidney troubles and it cured me."—WILLIAM COFFMAN, MARION, Mo.

A Real 4th.

To say the celebration of the 4th arranged for by the Women's Christian Temperance Union was a success is needless. It was a typical 4th of July celebration, even the cloud lightnings and thunders joined in the glorious chorus of happy voices, so much so that just after the parade while the festivities were yet in their beginning, the elegantly lighted and decorated lawn had to be abandoned, but the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oldham was equal to the occasion and with that ideal Kentucky-American hospitality, characteristic of both, everybody was welcomed into the portals.

Then of all the jollifying, romping, exciting and edifying you never saw the like. We heard of uncle George and aunt Martha clear on down to the ideal "K. Baby." Those the hours were passed till the full limit granted by the invitation.

Some special features of the evening that struck the writer were: The Mt. Sterling Brass Band; the splendid rendering of the pieces played; the gentlemanly deportment of the men; the prompt response to their request for music; and the patriotism that prompted them to play without remuneration; all are highly appreciated by the ladies in charge and by the citizens as well. The addresser were all good but the one of Mr. W. C. Hamilton especially abounded in patriotism, wit and reading—everybody answered, "He's All Right." Master Laird Throp added new honors to his reputation as "The Boy Orator," while as a singer Master William Hill, son of Mrs. J. W. Craig, captivated everybody. Indeed the entire programme was so success and all left realizing that a success as this country's past history, its present condition and the patriotic are motivated and controlled by and filed with the noble deeds of her Grand Womanhood ALL WILL BE WELL.

DEATHS.

NELSON.—Silas Nelson, aged 70 years, a very correct, hard working and respectful colored man died suddenly at his home here June 28, 1904, of heart disease. He was a stone mason and had done work on some of the largest buildings here. His remains were buried from the Christian Church after funeral services conducted by Rev. W. H. Brown.

McCLURE.—Albert McClure, aged 53 years, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Margaret Beall, near Winchester, on Friday night, July 1st, 1904. He has been in feeble health for some months, and was visiting her. The burial was in Winchester on Sunday. He was the son of John M. McClure deceased. He was never married. He leaves four brothers and three sisters in this and Clark county.

WYATT.—On Sunday, July 3rd, 1904, Haynes May Wyatt twelve years old, daughter of William Wyatt and wife, departed this life after suffering for several months with bright disease. She had not been confined to her bed until a few days prior to her death and while the fond parents realized the serious condition of their child they did not know the end was so near. The funeral service was held at the home at Camargo Monday conducted by Rev. B. E. Crosby, pastor of the M. E. Church at Old Fort and burial took place in Macphelah Cemetery.

SETTLES.—Monday morning the sad intelligence flashed from Arkansas City, Kansas, to this place notifying Ed and Robert Settles of the death of their brother, Ben, from suicide by shooting himself. No reason was assigned. Mr. Settles was a carriage manufacturer and was approaching his forty-fifth year. For a number of years prior to last December he had lived here coming from North Middletown, and conducted a large business in the manufacture of vehicles and doing repairing and was known as an upright man. His untimely death is the source of much regret. His remains will arrive here Thursday for burial.

WOOD.—In this city, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Fannie Reese, Mrs. Mattie Wood, wife of Ed. N. Wood, died on Friday morning, July 1, 1904. Four months ago she was brought here from their home in Florida to die at the home of her childhood. The funeral service was conducted at the residence on Sunday afternoon by Revs. H. D. Clark and W. T. Tibbs and the burial was in Macphelah. The beauty and sweetness of childhood with additional charm of maturer years adorned her life and made her worthy of the love and confidence of a host of friends. Her mother, her sister, Mrs. C. C. Peters, of Pittsburgh, Pa., her husband and her daughter, Miss Mary Williams Wood, survive her.

RELIGIOUS.

Union Service at Christian Church on Sunday evening, sermon by Rev. Edward Mann.

Dr. B. B. Bailey, pastor of Winchester Baptist Church, has accepted a call to Shelbyville.

Rev. H. D. Clark delivered a fine sermon to a large and appreciative audience at M. E. Church Sunday night.

The Brooks-Stamper revival at Sharpsburg is becoming quite a meeting. Last Sunday the Christian Church building at that place would not accommodate the large audiences. There were eleven additions to the church on that day—eleven in all up to Sunday night. The whole community is aroused with religious zeal and great good is being accomplished. W. T. Brooks, of Indiana, is the evangelist, and A. L. Stamper, of Lexington, has charge of the music. A chorus of twenty voices leads the congregation and the music is one of the helpful features of the meeting. Mr. Brooks, the evangelist.

REV. W. T. BROOKS.

whose out appears herewith, is well known throughout the Mississippi valley as one of the successful evangelists of the Christian Church. His evangelistic work began in this city some years ago when he held a ten-day meeting at the Corinth Church, with 88 additions as a result. Since that time he has held meetings in every section of the country and with uniform success. He will preach at Sharpsburg every night this week until Friday night, when the meeting will probably close. There will be afternoon services at 3:30 p. m. on Wednesday and Thursday.

CHICAGO PLATFORM RID- DLED

In Interview By John Sharp Williams.

THE NEGRO SUFFRAGE PLANK.

No Desire to Aid the Negro. But Only Object Is To Disturb The South

BOAST ABOUT THE TRUSTS

The Hon. John Sharp Williams, of Yazoo City, Miss., Democratic floor leader of the House, declared himself forcibly when asked his opinion of the Republican platform. He had read it carefully, but he took it up again and said:

"What about the Republican platform, do you ask? In the main there is nothing new about it, because there is nothing new in it. It is simply the old Republican game of claiming everything good that has happened and denying the truth, namely, that the Republican party has done nothing in two years except to 'stand pat,' as they call it, and spend money. As usual, the Wilson-Gorman bill is denounced as a Democratic tariff law, based on free trade principles, when, as a historical truth, it was further off from free trade than any tariff law that ever existed in America except that which bore the name of McKinley and that which bore the name of Dingley. The fact that there was no increase of imports under the Wilson-Gorman Bill is proof of the further fact that whatever depression in American industry then existed could not have been owing to lowering of duties and competition of foreign products by the operation of that bill.

"The platform says in effect that 'tariff reductions are not to be safely committed to any other hands than' to those of the friends of the inequalities, discriminations and extortions of the present law, because it says that they 'ought not to be committed to any other hands than the Republican party.' We think they ought to be committed to the hands of the friends of the common-wealth.

"The promise to reduce tariff taxation 'whenever conditions demand any alterations; is idle, deplorable verbiage. Will any sane man assert that there are not conditions demanding 'any alterations' of any of the schedules of the Dingley Bill? Has not the Republican party had full power to make those alterations? Has it made them? Does the Republican party think that the practice on the part of a manufacturer of constantly selling his product cheaper abroad than at home constitutes such a 'condition'? Does it believe that where a schedule of the tariff law shelters trusts in this practice there exists such a condition demanding a lowering of the rate at least to the point where foreign competition may enter whenever such a trust thus exploits the American consumer by extortionate and unreasonable prices? Who answers? Not the platform.

OLD PROSPERITY DODGE.

"Then there follows the old historical untruth that a 'Democratic tariff' has always brought about a depression and a 'Republican tariff' has always brought about prosperity. Remember that the man who wrote this pretends to be a historian, regardless of whom you regard as the author of the platform, Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, or the Acting President. It was the voice of the Massachusetts Jacob. It may have been the hand of the Presidential Esau. As a historian he knew that the panic of '73 and the long depression which followed it, if it was due to any sort of a tariff law at all, was due to the then existing tariff law, which was Republican; as a historian he knew that the country was growing in prosperity by leaps and bounds during the ten years of the period which elapsed from the inauguration of Thomas Jefferson, in 1801, down to that of Abraham Lincoln and that nearly all of that period was a period of low tariff and Democratic ascendancy; as a historian he knew that James G. Blaine put down in black and white the eternal truth that even the Whigs had reconciled themselves to the Walker tariff and confessed that the country had had great prosperity under it.

"The Republican platform says that the 'only free trade country on earth is now agitating for a return to protection.' Of course, the author knew that what is really being 'agitated' in England is a plan for retaliation against protective countries, with as little protection in it as possible to have retaliation at all. He also knew that this agitation had been signally unsuccessful. The platform favors 'commercial reciprocity' wherever it can be had without injury to any American industry. 'Any' is good there; think of it! 'Injury' is good in that connection also. If the phrase means anything it means this, that the Republican party is not willing to secure immensely larger markets for the products of our farms, mines, forests or even manufactures abroad, in return for that, it shall be compelled to admit into competition with 'any,' even the least of our industries, 'any' articles of foreign growth and production. Judging by Senator Lodge's record in opposition to the French reciprocity treaty, which was initiated, completed and sent to the Senate by President McKinley, it would mean that the Republican party would refuse, if they were offered, greatly extended markets for Western produce and Southern and Middle States' productions, if thereby it were threatened to cut down 5 per cent. of the possible profits of a Massachusetts cotton knitting mill.

SHIP SUBSIDY FEATURE.

"The people will note the cunning manner in which there is concealed in the Republican platform the hydra-head of yet further special legislation by direct money subsidy out of the Treasury to be extended to the class of ship builders and ship owners. They will also note that the Republican party was not quite brave enough to say 'out loud' that this is what is intended. This ship subsidy plank is bolstered up by the usual false statement, in innuendo, that the English merchant marine rests on subsidies from the English Treasury. The fact is that the money paid out by the English Government to ship owners is for carrying the mails and that it is paid to the lowest bidders, and that ship owners of all nations are permitted to bid.

"The platform boasts that the Republican party deserves the credit of recent legislation excluding Chinese labor. The truth is that both parties co-operated to that end and the Democratic party voted that way unanimously on the floor of the House. The difference is this, that the Democrats were consistent with the record and spirit of Democracy and the Republicans were inconsistent in other directions. The Democratic party believes that this ought to be, as nearly possible, a white man's country—a homo geneous people, maintaining the white man's civilization, founded on his peculiar industrial home life, out of which has grown his peculiar code of ethics. It consistently voted, therefore, to exclude Chinese. The Republicans profess to believe that there is no difference between races and that all ought to have equal privileges. If so, then the Chinaman ought not to be for-bidden to earn a living, which is a much higher privilege than voting, in America. The inconsistency is palpable. The Republicans cast a right vote upon the Chinese exclusion question, but it was an un-Republican vote.

"In the platform it is said: 'We pledge ourselves to insist on the just and equal treatment of all citizens abroad.' American citizens will find it hard to reconcile this profession with the fact that the Secretary of State will not issue a passport to one of them to 'visit and sojourn' in Russia without warning him that he will not be protected there. It is late, right now on the eve of a campaign, to insist that that will be done which is not being done and which has not been done, namely, 'to secure to all American citizens rights of travel and sojourn in foreign countries.'

BOAST ABOUT TRUSTS.

"The boast that the Administration has executed the anti trust laws is, of course, ridiculous. The Attorney General, in response to a resolution of my own, frankly confessed that nothing had been done, and left the inference that nothing would be done, toward the criminal prosecution of men found guilty by the Supreme Court of the United States in the Northern Securities case, which owed its initiative to Gov. Van Sant, of having violated the provisions of anti-trust legislation. The entire Republican party at the last session of the House of Representatives, with three exceptions, voted against a provision instructing the Secretary of the Navy not to enter into Government contracts with trusts and unlawful combinations convicted by law of being such. The Attorney General, in answer to another resolution, failed to show that anything substantial was being done, civilly or criminally, against the anthracite coal carrying railroads and anthracite coal mine owners, constituting together, in violation of law, one of the greatest trusts in the country. This same 'trust buster,' Attorney General Knox, has just been appointed by the Governor of Pennsylvania a Senator from that State on demand of the very men who constituted this trust, and who are, at any rate, the presidents of the railroads and the owners of the mines constituting it. What are you going to do when the 'trust buster' is 'busted'—or removed, which is the same thing? Answer, echo, answer!

THE NEGRO PLANK.

I will not now go into the minor details of the platform. It simply stands pat everywhere except in one respect, and that is a respect in which it could well have afforded to let well enough alone, if things are, indeed, ever well enough in this world. That is the plank in which it promises if it finds the suffrage in any State 'unconstitutionally limited' by special 'discrimination' to reduce the representation of that State in Congress and in the Electoral College. The adverb 'unconstitutionally' is useless and fools no body, especially when one remembers that the author of the phrase, or at least the voice that read it, was the author of the old 'force bill.' Whether or not the suffrage has been 'unconstitutionally limited' is a matter for the courts to determine, and a report of a Republican Committee on Elections in the last Congress so confessed it. If a man be 'unconstitutionally' denied the suffrage, then, after a determination to that effect, he can vote—that is his remedy, and the right remedy, and, having voted, of course, there can be no reduction of representation on his account.

"But all this deceives nobody, as I said. The real object of the Republican party, in so far as this plank is concerned, however specious the phraseology in which it is clothed, is to reduce Southern representation without reducing that of Massachusetts, Connecticut, and other States, wherever in the South negroes are disfranchised, not as such, but because of ignorance by an educational qualification, or because of any other right reason, in any other constitutional way. Disfranchisement of negroes for ignorance in Mississippi is a horrible thing; disfranchisement of a white man for ignorance in Massachusetts is a part of 'higher civilization.'

INCONSISTENCY SHOWN.

"Let not the business interest of the country deceive itself; let those controlling it prepare for another period of uncertainty, unrest, business disturbance and race war in the Southern States, instead of that of peace and prosperity which both races now enjoy and which has been rendered possible only by home rule and by white supremacy. Let the South not deceive itself either. If the Republican party were sincere in its proposition to reduce Southern representation on the ground of disfranchisement of the negro race in the South, thereby condoning the disfranchisement or 'unconstitutional limitation' itself, it would accompany that proposition with another, to wit, the proposition to repeal the Fifteenth amendment. Their duplicity is shown in this; they wish to maintain the amendment which forbids the negro, for radical reasons, from being disfranchised, and yet, on the pretense that he is for radical reasons disfranchised, they would have the negro not counted as a basis of representation in the Southern States, where he chiefly resides. It is not the white man, as a white man, who is injured by a recurrence to the tendencies of Force Bill days—he can and always will maintain himself—it is business, commerce, manufacturing, agriculture and the negro himself. Commercially and industrially the white men of the South will not be so much injured by this sort of agitation as Northern people will, because the average Southerner is not rich anyhow—gets his food and clothes out of the world, and these he would get anyhow. The mercantile class would be the first to suffer, but as they owe debts to the North and buy from the North, and as nearly everything they sell is manufactured in the North, they would not be alone in their suffering.

"This is but the entering wedge to a new period of 'Southern reconstruction.' It is the beginning of the old scheme, revived for political advantage—consisting in the retention of the solid negro vote in Indiana, Illinois and other like conditioned States—this time without price in money paid—to disturb, all over the prosperous Southland, peace and order, to demoralize society, and as a remote effect, if successful, to hybridize the race there and Africanize the civilization. That is the ultimate significance of it all, if indeed it be not merely a voice in the wilderness crying out empty promises to the negro voters in the doubtful States. I wish I could believe it was only that. I would believe it but for the opinionated and superstitious character of 'the man in the White House.'

THE LITTLE SHE SHOW.

"Oh, this boy with a lighted torch in a powder magazine, imagining himself a hero! Is there no way to teach him practical sense? If there were, how small a comparison would be the immediate and ultimate significance of a partisan victory either way! "In keeping with all this was the Santo Bambino scene in the Republican National Convention, the wild adoration of 'My Little Alabama Coon'—or was it a Georgia coon? Why were the two little white girls thrust on the same platform with the little negro boy to march around with him, waving flags? Why was it all thus prearranged? What was the pretended lesson intended by it? What is the subtle, symbolical meaning of it all? Is it a meaning which any white Republican dares put in words? Or is it a meaning to be guessed at and to be left to negro orators speaking to negro audiences to put in such words as are adapted to their race traits, tendencies and longings?"

Death to Chiggers.

Every one knows who goes camping that Chiggers are annoying and painful. Paracamp not only relieves the chiggers bite but kills the chigger. Apply it freely, rub in well. It will give immediate relief; so take a bottle along with you. 51-4t
